Welcome to Wembley Parade

A note from Anthology's David Newey

Welcome to the next chapter from Anthology. We have now ventured into North West London. Here, we focus on Wembley and an exciting development of new homes that will form a key part of the wider regeneration of this area.

Wembley of course is famous for its Stadium, scene to many memorable events and occasions. But more than that, this area is a place where historically people of all nations, ages and beliefs have come together, to congregate and to celebrate.

This rich heritage of celebration and peaceful gatherings has influenced both the name and architecture of our homes, inspiring us to write a new chapter in the lives for those who come here to join this thriving, famous neighbourhood.

David Newey
Project Director

BUILT FROM LONDON

Our residential developments span across Zones 2-5, from North to South, East to West. At the heart of our approach is enhancing neighbourhoods, celebrating the people, their stories and the culture that makes the city such an exciting place to live.

WELCOME TO LONDON

London is an open place that continues to attract people from around the world and of all backgrounds. It is the contrasts and combinations that make this city the exciting place it is. The multicultural population leaves its traces all over the ever changing cityscape and its diversity is visible in buildings and landmarks, both old and new. At Anthology we celebrate this spirit of change. We value the legacy created in the past and hope to write our own history today for future generations to carry on.

Over time the arch of the Wembley stadium, designed by Foster & Partners architects and completed in 2007, has become the main defining landmark of the area.

The multicultural nature of Wembley reaches its peak of visibility at the annual Holi Festival, a Hindu celebration also known as festival of colours, attracting visitors of all ages and backgrounds.

Concerts by internationally recognised acts, world class sport events, premium shopping destinations, historic parks and nature reserves – Wembley offers something for everyone.

THE HISTORY OF THE PARADE

Wembley's history as a significant place for gatherings and celebrations commenced in 1923 with the hosting of the FA Cup Final. The games were held in the new build Empire Stadium which was part of a larger master-plan in preparation of the 1924-1925 British Empire Exhibition. The exhibition aimed to showcase international achievements in technology, production and art.

Lasting 10 months, with 56 exhibiting countries, it was the largest exhibition ever in the world, attracting 27 million visitors.

Whilst the original pavilions, the boating lake and other landscape features of the exhibition ground disappeared over time, rudiments of the original structure still exist today. An example is the north south axis stretching from Wembley Park Rail station to Wembley Stadium which is now known as Olympic Way.

Empire Stadium

The Empire Stadium went on to host the annual FA Cup Finals, the 1948 Summer Olympics, the 1966 World Cup Final and the 1985 Live Aid Concert. It was later replaced by the Wembley stadium which opened in March 2007.

WEMBLEY REGENERATION MASTERPLAN

The Wembley Park Masterplan is a large scale regeneration project that includes the development of residential, retail and leisure/ green spaces covering an area of approximately 69.3 hectares (171.2 acres).

The multiple ownership regeneration site is roughly framed by Empire Way to the west, two congestion rail lines in north and south and Hannah Close in the east.

VISION

The regeneration project aims to provide over 6,000 new full time jobs and around 5,000 new homes by 2020. A total of 10,000 jobs will be created overall including construction by advancing a mix of uses with employment usage and providing training for local residents. The project's vision is to have a positive and long lasting impact through the instalment of sustainable housing and businesses, quality open spaces and a pedestrian focused network.

High quality hotels and office spaces will attract businesses and conferencing, with future businesses being seamlessly and harmoniously integrated into the existing structure. Affordable workspaces will be provided for creative enterprises.

Affordable, high quality housing will cater to a wide audience. Local communities and residents' needs will be prioritised in the leisure, sporting and cultural context, guaranteeing a high quality of life by creating pocket squares, open spaces and new parks to be enjoyed.

Wembley will be established as a major shopping destination with a diverse, complementing offer by both the existing High Road and new shopping streets. Large numbers of visitors will be encouraged and welcomed to the area by additional large scale attractions and accommodation.

The regeneration is divided into 5 mixed use areas

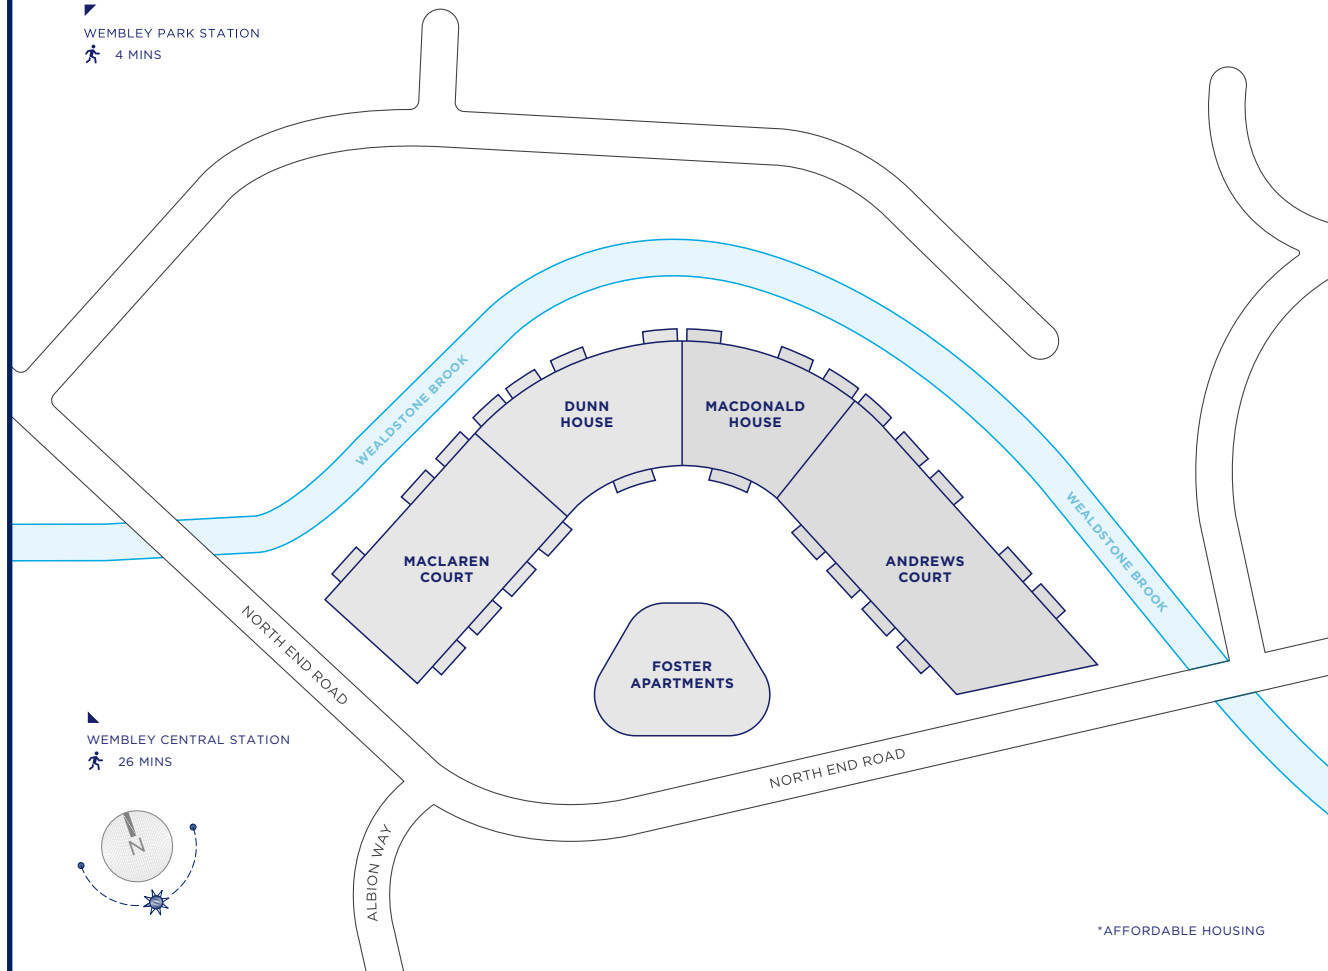

Anthology Wembley Parade

Located on North End Road, Wembley Parade is made up of five buildings including a twelve-floor tower. Comprising of one, two and three bedrooms, there are 195 homes in total, all featuring a private balcony or terrace.

The landscaping is at varying levels throughout and has been carefully considered to maximise the usability of the space, with an under-croft area incorporated within the design which links the south gardens to the Wealdstone Brook.

A play area will be developed which is safe and enjoyable for children of varying ages, whilst remaining in keeping with the landscape design at no compromise to the charm bought to the area by landscape architects, Fabrik.
